

Rockaganza rocked

The first rock tour around the region was a "fist pumping good time," said organizer Lindsay Johnston of Fundamental Event Marketing.

Rockaganza took four bands through the Rockies to put on five concerts in Invermere, Kimberley, Banff and Golden, "playing deadly shows; jammin' into the wee hours, and ultimately having a blast!"

The best is still to come. The original purpose behind the week-long tour held at the beginning of July was to put together a Rockumentary. A film crew and photographers followed the tour and caught the events in their entirety. Shot by Juan Delgado and Dan Dumouchel of Perfect Productions in Calgary, the Rockumentary is slated for release at the end of September.

"It will contain an hour of the deadliest 'not-so-behind-the-scenes' footage from the week-long tour on top of 20 minute sections highlighting each specific band," said Johnston. "The Rockumentary will be full of great music from the shows and jams, awesome fun times, and a great showcase of the other talents who were on board for this tour."

The bands included Kiesza, McCuaig, Satori Life and Disaster-

Man. Johnston said one of the most exciting things for her was watching the older, more experienced McCuaig encourage and inspire the younger musicians.

"Our bands comprised not only talented musicians, but incredible performers who made every day and each show something to see,"

she said. "We proved that Rockaganza will not just be a set of great rock shows, but a whole new generation of rock production."
